Minister of Health Hon. Dr. Lillian Boyce has been given a strong vote of confidence by Premier of the Turks and Caicos Islands, Hon. Dr. Michael Misick, after transforming the Education Ministry and will now move to shore-up the Health Ministry to which she is now assigned.

Speaking at his swearing-in ceremony as the first elected speaker of the Turks and Caicos Islands, Premier Misick lauded Hon. Boyce for her time as the Education Minister and said he looks forward to her doing well in Health.

“Thanks for your hard work in education, thank you for your hard work in Youth Sports and Culture and bringing CARIFTA to the Turks and Caicos Islands. She did a very good job in Education as we embark on building these two new hospitals and formerly establishing health care facilities for all of our people throughout the islands, I could not think of a better person that could lead the health and human services department,” said Misick.

The premier also took time out to welcome Dr. Carlton Mills as Minister of Education and charged him to take education in the Turks and Caicos Islands to a higher level with the platform set for him by Dr. Boyce.

“Because of our commitment to education and Hon. Boyce has done a wonderful job in the Ministry of Education, Youth and Sports in the last three and a half years. But our commitment to making the Turks and Caicos Islands the most educated country in the entire world, our commitment to establishing the University of the Turks and Caicos our commitment to creating a Community College park, with universities from all over the world setting up here, I said to myself this is an ideal opportunity to chose one of the most pre-eminent educators in our country to serve.

He (Dr. Mills) will follow in the footsteps of other great doctor and take education higher and higher in our country.
